Stand Alone:

Both conservative home decorators and avid kitsch collectors shop here for eclectic handmade items.

The Scene

A playful splash of mosaic tile colorfully forms the word “Handmade” – an apt name for this delightful artists’ boutique located in the heart of Sherman Oaks.

The Goods

One part flea market, one part garage sale, a tiny sprinkle of Soho, a huge dollop of creativity and what do you have? Handmade – the best collection of artists’ wares in the valley. Over 100 booths boast crafts from mostly local artists, their wares ranging from dishware to clothing, vintage jewelry to distressed wood furniture and fanciful wall hangings. Both sophisticated art collector and avid chachkis collector will find Handmade to be the Valley’s own version of Camelot. And with bountiful treasures available for reasonable prices, you don’t have to be a Valley Princess to afford to shop here!

Price Range

These quality, quirky items are more expensive than a garage sale, but less expensive than a retail store. You can leave spending 10 dollars on a lovely photo frame (which they’ll wrap in a brown bag with dried flowers), or drop $225 on a stunning shabby chic chandelier.
